Together
we make a difference.

What a year!

We're excited to share powerful stories of the impact you helped make possible.

Through your donations and contributions
this past year, we are able to provide children with the support they need at school, at home and in the community so they can thrive.

Positive Impact at School

School Wellness Centers provide a supportive atmosphere, improve classroom behavior and build peer relationships among students.

Mason's Story

As a senior, Mason produced and hosted student episodes on mental health and wellness, turning his own challenges into conversations that helped others. One guest, Dr. Judy Ho, introduced him to attachment theory, reshaping how he views relationships and empathy. Mason “gained not only technical expertise and professional experience but also a deepened sense of empathy and leadership.” This fall, he starts an exciting new chapter as a student at UC San Diego.

The Story of Marbella and Dario

Calistoga Elementary School Wellness Center helps students thrive at school and is also inspiring care and mental wellness at home. For Marbella, it's important to have “a safe and quiet place to go to during the school day.” Marbella and her brother Dario recently created a “wellness corner” in their home too. Their mother was touched that her children brought home self-regulation and emotional safety tools they’ve learned at school.

Connecting after School

Children who attend after-school programs show improved behavior compared to peers.

The Story of Frank, Anderson and Amalie

For parents Lindsey and Brian, the Boys & Girls Club is far more than after-school care. It is a welcoming place. Their children, Frank, Anderson and Amalie, come home each day with new skills and bright ideas thanks to mentors who inspire them to reach higher. It also brings deep reassurance to their parents. As Lindsey and Brian shared, “We feel immense peace of mind knowing our kids are growing in a place where they are seen, valued and supported every day.”

Building Bright Futures in the Community

Adolescents with engaged parents experience lower rates of depression and anxiety, and have stronger coping skills and healthier relationships.

Maria's Story

Pregnant and alone, Maria turned to Cope Family Center hoping for a way forward. She had grown up in an abusive home but wanted something better for her baby. With steady support, she found courage and direction. “Thank you for making this possible. You’ve changed my life and my child’s life,” she shared. Now, she’s a straight-A college student preparing for a healthcare career, showing that cycles can be broken and new paths created.
